

When Duke Energy Searched For A Site They Needed More Than Coal.

Sure the site requirements for the coal gasification plant in Edwardsport included a nearby source of coal. But it also required a nearby source of electrical contractors employing skilled, well trained workers capable of taking on a project of this magnitude. And that's where we came in. The NECA Electrical Contractors and the Electrical Workers of Local 725. Partners in technology "Trained To Think Outside The Box" and helping bring new business to our region.
