

Make a mistake in golf...

...You take a mulligan.

But when an unqualified, unscrupulous contractor makes a mistake or has an accident on a Public Works Project in a community without a Responsible Bidder Ordinance, it's the taxpayer who corrects the mistake, and those costs add up over time.

That's why the IiFFC is working to provide information on how a Responsible Bidder ordinance in your community can improve construction investments and get the most out of your tax dollars.

“Common Construction Wage?...”

...I've never heard of it before.”

The fact that most of us don't know what Common Construction Wage is makes some people very happy.

They're the construction industry contractors who are supposed to pay it—but don't. That's not fair to the workers, taxpayers and contractors who do. And it's definitely not good for our local economy.

If you're in the local construction industry and feel you're not receiving it, we can help. To learn more, click on our website at www.iiiffc.org
